

School Redistrict Plan Sent Back For Further Revision

By Linda S. Corbett

A redistricting plan that would leave Sanborn and South school districts intact, but would cause disproportionate overcrowding in Bancroft and West Elementaries for the next couple of years, was sent back to the drawing board Tuesday night.

The school committee asked a redistricting group to return in two weeks with a revision that better addresses consistency of services throughout the system and brings teacher:pupil ratios closer to the 25:1 they had had in mind.

The proposal introduced by Committeeman Michael Giammusso Tuesday night called for all of the present Shawsheen pupils to be redistricted either to West or to Bancroft, with all of the former Doherty pupils going to the latter.

The Bancroft district would include all of the present Bancroft district, plus two appendages: the Main Street-Phillips Street-Central Street triangle and the area within Upper Elm Street, the North Andover Line, High Street and Burton Farm Road.

The triangle just below that, the High Street-Shipman Road-Elm Street area would be assigned to West Elementary under the proposal, but Giammusso said it would likely be turned over to Bancroft in another couple of years.

So, Giammusso said, the committee was recommending that youngsters in that area who would be starting kindergarten or first grade be given the opportunity to start to Bancroft now, to avoid uprooting later on.

West, under the plan, would get all of the remainder of the Shawsheen area.

West Principal Jack Coyle who, along with the other principals and the central office administrators, had worked on the plan, said Tuesday night he felt his school had flexible enough space that it could get by for the next couple of years until the upper-grade bulge moves on through.

Bancroft Principal Lois Haslam echoed the feeling for her school.

"I would be very pleased to have a 1:25 ratio," she said, but added that they have accommodated a large number of students this year, and that "we believe we could handle the student population next year."

However, some of the parents and school committeemen argued that numbers approaching 1,000 and 600 for the two schools were just too high, while Sanborn and South would mosey along at 429 and 374 respectively, far short of the numbers they can actually hold.

School Committee Chairman Joe Finn noted that when the consistency of services study was made three years ago, the maximum numbers were set at 825 for West, 525 for Bancroft, 450 for South and 500 for Sanborn.

Of course, Giammusso noted, two major changes have been made: there is now no Doherty and there will be no Shawsheen.

Committeeman Donald Robb saw "several" major problems with the redistricting proposal presented.

When they decided to close Shawsheen, he said, the school committee submitted a list of about eight items they wanted to see considered in the redistricting process.

"It seems to me that one of those has

Selectmen Finally Award Rollins Firm Cable TV License

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The runner-up argued its case right down to the wire Monday night, but the selectmen granted a provisional cable television license to Rollins Cablevision, following a recommendation made by the cable advisory committee six months ago.

The Massachusetts Cable Television Commission will award a 15-year license to Rollins next May, on the selectmen's recommendation, provided that an acceptable contract is negotiated between the town and the Atlanta-based company.

The board reached its decision with a three-zero vote after reading a report by a cable consultant that evaluated the proposals submitted by Rollins and its local competitor, Continental Cablevision of Lawrence.

The consulting firm, Malarkey, Taylor and Associates of Washington, D.C., focused on the financial aspects of both companies at the selectmen's request. The board last November voted to retain the consultant — whose $12,000-plus fee was picked up by Rollins and Continental — after Continental charged that Rollins' financial statements were questionable.

Robert Jones of Malarkey, Taylor told the selectmen that while Continental's financial statements appeared to be accurate, Rollins had underestimated the capital funds needed to build its proposed system by $400,000 to $500,000.

The consultant also expressed "some reservations" about Rollins' estimates of how many of its subscribers would buy its home security system, Jones added. "The substantial amount of security revenues projected by Rollins might very well happen," he pointed out, but there is "some question" that it will.

However, Jones explained that both companies are "large, reputable companies," and both proposals appeared to be "economically feasible," although neither would be likely to become profitable within 10 years. Both could expect to become profitable within 15 years, he said.

The consultants' report concluded that the selectmen should consider all aspects

Applications For Principal Due Friday

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert told the school committee Tuesday night that the cutoff for applications for high school principal is at the end of the week. More than 50 have been received so far, he said.

The committee gave Seifert a 5-0 go-ahead to reopen applications for the business manager position, to take advantage of changes that have taken place in the last three to four months because of Prop. 2½. Seifert told them that shortly after applications were closed, he was approached by a number of people who were looking for jobs because of 2½.

Muise Is Reappointed To Board

Town Treasurer and Collector of Taxes Myron Muise has been reappointed to the advisory board of the Massachusetts Municipal Depository Trust, State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane announced recently.

The state treasurer praised Muise's "untiring effort for and devotion to the trust," and said his efforts "definitely merit another two year appointment to the advisory board."

Muise is also a member of the Massachusetts Collectors-Treasurers Association, and active in the Municipal Finance Officers Association.

Planning Board Hearings To Begin

The Planning Board will hold its first public hearing in preparation for town meeting at 8 p.m. tonight at the Essex Street Theatre Building.

Discussion of the planners' proposed multiple-family housing amendment to the zoning bylaw is likely to dominate the hearing, but the board will also hear public comment on proposed by-laws that would allow the creation of "in-law" apartments, and govern condominium conversions.

The planners will meet again at 8 p.m. Monday night for their second public hearing, this one centering around Digital Equipment Corp.'s request that the town rezone a 140-acre Frontage Road site from residential to industrial. Digital would like to build on a 52-acre parcel on that site, which is currently owned by Yvon Cormier.

The planning board's Monday night meeting will also deal with proposed zoning amendments that would allow towers in Andover, for use with both windmills and amateur radio antennae.

The Board of Selectmen are scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. Monday night at Memorial Hall Library to agree on their position toward the Digital proposal, before continuing with a regular meeting.

Town meeting will begin Tuesday, May 26, at East Junior High School's Memorial Auditorium.

School's Out Friday, June 19

The school committee voted Tuesday night to let school out Friday, June 19, despite the fact that Andover will be one day short of the 180-day school year set by the state.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said that Andover does fulfill the hourly requirement of the state, and that this is in no way a precedent-setter.

However, he said, letting school out on Friday instead of Monday means the school department can get about the extra business before them this year: namely the closing of Shawsheen, the move of offices from Stowe and Jackson Schools in preparation for their demolition, and the start of the building program.

Sidewalk Bazaar Set

Plans are progressing for the Andover Center Merchants Annual Sidewalk Bazaar to be held Friday and Saturday, June 26 and 27. With little more than one month to go, several non-profit, non-political groups have already registered to participate with the Center Merchants by setting up booths along Main Street with food concessions — arts and crafts — white elephants — sales and so forth.

The 1981 Bazaar Days will again feature the John Langill amusements as an attraction to highlight the consumer values the merchants will display on the sidewalks.

The Main Street will be closed to traffic from 8:30 a.m. on for the two day event. On Friday stores will be open to 9 p.m., and on Saturday to 5 p.m.

Any Andover based qualified organization who wishes to participate has only to contact the Chamber of Commerce office to register.

Library Friends To Meet

The annual meeting of the Friends of the Library will be held on Wednesday, May 13, in Memorial Hall at 7:30 p.m.

This will be followed by a forum on China in which three Andover women, Pat Dye, Priscilla Seewald and Phoebe Miner, will each share their impressions and opinions of their visit to China.

Refreshments and a reception will follow the forum.

While fighting wars in Egypt, Napoleon collected seeds of mignonette and sent them to Josephine who raised them in small pots, thereby setting a fashion that spread throughout Europe, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will conclude its current season with a Philharmonic Festival Concert on Sunday afternoon, May 17, at Andover West Junior High School Auditorium, Shawsheen Road, at 3:30 p.m.

To celebrate the Philharmonic's 20th anniversary as the region's own symphony orchestra, a gala after-the-concert, free public reception, to which everyone is invited, will be held in the large cafeteria adjacent to the auditorium from approximately 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. In the formal part of the affair there will be addresses by appropriate personages of the Philharmonic's past and present. Tables will be provided, with punch and snacks available, and displays will feature Philharmonic memorabilia. Members of the audience will be afforded the opportunity to meet informally with the orchestra's musicians and operations personnel. The Anniversary Committee, co-chaired by Mrs. Anthony J. works of the type that has pleased the Philharmonic's audiences over the years. Nicholas Van Slyck, music director, will conduct three compositions: The "Brides Overture, Opus 26," of Mendelssohn, the "Serenade No. 1, Opus 11," by Brahms, and, after intermission, the "Symphony No. 41, K.551 (Jupiter)," by Mozart.

Tickets for this final concert in the 1980-

81 season will be available at the door. The public reception is free of additional charge.

Dukakis Speaker At Academy

Former Massachusetts Governor Michael Dukakis will speak in Andover on Thursday, May 7, on "The American City: What Next?" as Phillips Academy's 1981 Hosh Lecturer. The public is cordially invited to the lecture in George Washington Hall at 8 p.m., without charge.

Former Governor Dukakis will focus on the questions: What can state and the federal government do to create or support the health of cities, and what should be the limits of state and federal power? His address will be the final program in the Phillips Academy student-faculty Friday Forum (although the address will be given on Thursday, May 7), aimed at airing the issues of public affairs before students, faculty and interested citizens of the community. The Dukakis address is supported by the Hosh Lecture Endowment, given in memory of former student John Hosh, to bring to the campus speakers on the issues of democracy.

Solar Bus Coming To Andover

The Solar Bus is coming to Andover on May 11.

The office of Energy Resources (OER) is helping Merrimack Valley celebrate "Solar Action Week." The week will include a series of events about solar energy, with special emphasis on how consumers can use solar energy now—easily and cheaply.

"Our intent in coordinating Solar Action Week with Merrimack Valley is to show consumers that solar energy does not have to be expensive or complicated to save money for the average homeowner or tenant," said State Energy Secretary Joseph S. Fitzpatrick. "There are several ways in which solar energy can be utilized to help reduce our dependence on costly, imported oil," Secretary Fitzpatrick added.

To kick off the week, Secretary Fitzpatrick will arrive at Andover High School at 2 p.m. on Monday, May 11, aboard a solar-equipped, all-alcohol powered school bus. The bus, used last summer during a two-week tour of the state, is a normal school bus that has been converted to run on 100 percent alcohol made from grain and waste paper products.

OER staff will also be on the bus to demonstrate various working models of solar displays.

"Solar Action Week" is an ambitious effort initiated by the Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association. The cities and towns of Chelmsford, Lowell, Dracut, Tewksbury, Billerica, Lawrence, Methuen, Andover, North Andover, Haverhill, Amesbury, Merrimack, Newbury, Newburyport and Salisbury are all in-

Software Plans Move To West Andover

Software International plans to move its offices from Elm Square to West Andover's Industrial Tech Park within a year, pending town approval of its plans to build a three-story, 100,000 square-foot building in the industrial park.

The Planning Board was expected to recommend that the building inspector approve those plans during a meeting at the Essex Street Theatre Building last night. The planners reviewed a site plan for the proposed office building last Thursday night.

Software would build on a 6.6 acre lot located in the southwest corner of a 35-acre parcel bounded by Shattuck Road, River Road and Route 93. Developer Arkwright-Boston Insurance would eventually sell the remaining acreage for three other industrial buildings, according to Steve Kasnet of R.M. Bradley Co., industrial real estate agent for Arkwright.

Software would like to begin construction in early June, and move the building's first occupants in by the end of this year, Kasnet indicated. A total of about 350 employees would work in the offices by March of next year, he added. The building would house offices and a large computer room, much like the current Elm Square building.

Kasnet said he could not predict when the next three buildings would be built on the rest of the site, which will probably be divided into two six or seven-acre lots and one 13 or 14-acre lot. However, the developer would like to see construction "at least start" on one other building this year.

Architects for Software said the building would be set back 112 feet from Shattuck Road, and 100 feet from the side and back property lines. The main access to the building would lead from Shattuck Road.

The site will be generously landscaped, the architect said, with many of the existing trees left standing to help screen the building from neighboring homes. The plans also call for parking lot lights on 15-foot standards, with the lights designed to cast light directly down into the lot. There

Old Ironsides

Most famous of "Old Ironsides" victories in the War of 1812 were the Guerrier, the Java, and the combination of the Cyane and the Levant. Saved from destruction by Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem in 1837, and carefully restored in 1927, she is the oldest commissioned ship in the U.S. Navy.

Plant Sale

The Hogan Regional Association for Retarded Citizens is having its annual sale of plants, vegetables and flowers on three Saturdays in May. The dates are May 9, 16, and 23, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The sale is at the Friends of Hathorne Greenhouse on the grounds of the Hogan Regional Center in Danvers. There will be signs off Route 62, just west of Route 1, showing the way to the greenhouse.

The Galapagos Islands west of Ecuador were named for the "galapago," Spanish for "tortoise," because of the 200-pound tortoises found there that could carry the weight of a man.

College Prep

The Lowell Campus of Newbury Junior College is offering an eight-week Basic Studies program this summer, with concentrated skills review in both English and Math, beginning May 18.

After successfully completing the two courses, participants are qualified for initial acceptance to any of Newbury's 27 associate degree and certificate programs. While the courses are not specifically designed for GED preparation, many students have found them to be especially helpful in attaining their high school equivalency certificates.

The WJH spring teams began their seasons during the past week. On Monday, April 27, the freshman baseball team defeated Central Catholic by a score of 7-4. Two days later, John Geiger pitched a shutout as West overcame Tewksbury, 2-1. Last Friday, they battled Greater Lowell to a 6-6 tie.

The girls' softball team suffered three defeats in as many games last week. On Monday, in spite of the great emotional uplift caused by Mr. Kennedy's terrific performance in throwing out the first pitch of the new season, the girls lost to Dracut by a score of 13-5. Tewksbury's team then beat EJH 21-6 on Wednesday. In last week's final game, West was defeated again by Tewksbury 22-14, although WJH's players put together a strong seventh-inning rally.

On Friday, May 1, the eighth grade baseball team, in its first game, challenged Tenny Middle School and came away with an impressive 10-0 victory. Billy Weidman, the winning pitcher, allowed only four hits while striking out 10. Dan Sheehan, Weidman, Billy Lane and Jeff Poor scored two runs apiece, while Bobby Charland and Tom Marjerison each crossed the plate once.

Both of West's track teams have competed in one meet already this season. The boys lost to Chelmsford McCarthy by a score of 38½ to 53½ on Monday, April 27.

On Monday, May 4, the WJH girls' track team defeated Dracut 58-43.

In preparation for the annual Open House and Western Barbeque to be held later this month, tryouts are in progress for the musical production. The theme for this year's show is country and western music.

dominated," he said, referring to the wish to bring the former Doherty pupils together in one school.

He called the plan "short-sighted," and said he felt they were going "overboard to preserve groups of students who were all together two years ago."

He said the plan would cause "severe underutilization of South and Sanborn," while they were "cramping the two others to the rafters."

"I find that an unacceptable position," he said.

As for consistency of services, Robb said they weren't going to get it in four buildings, but that he felt they could do a better job on pupil teacher ratio. It was his motion to restudy the redistricting, to "more equitably distribute students against the rated capacity of the buildings."

He gained a second from colleague John Eaton, who felt that the redistricting committee was "trying to protect something that can't be kept." He said they could come up with a plan that was "more reasonable and more geographically sound."

"They're going to have to talk to some people other than themselves," he said.

Committeeman Dick Neal agreed that the numbers could be more in line with a 25:1 ratio, while Giammusso countered that he didn't feel the proposal was weighted in regard to a particular group of students. Two years from now, he said, "these districts are going to look just right."

Finn added that consistency of services was "a very hot issue" a few years ago, and that parents were very concerned and emotional about it.

"There's a definite imbalance here," he said. "It throws consistency of services back several steps."

He said he would guarantee them that if they have 1000 students in one school, the parents' noses will really get out of joint when they come to school and realize their kids aren't getting as fair a shake as others.

Finn said he feels they are going to have to push some Bancroft and Sanborn children into South, and move some West children into Sanborn, to get a greater balance.

Jim Redmond, president of the Andover Education Association (A.E.A.), said that in looking over the class sizes presented under the plan for next year, it appeared that 48 classes exceed the 25:1 ratio.

"I defy anyone to take four floaters (four floating teachers proposed in the plan) and use them adequately throughout the system," he said, and he noted that 11 classes had more than 30 youngsters in their homerooms alone.

The West Contemporary program, he pointed out, would have six classes, with an average of 29.4 per home room.

"Can you see what the ability groupings are going to be like?" he asked, and added that there might be 10 in the high ability groups and 10 in the low, and 30 in the middle.

Redmond said the rumor going about the system is that "If you want to teach with decent class size, transfer to South," and he asked the committee to seek teacher input into the question of handling that many children.

The question of who was supposed to be or not supposed to be on the redistricting committee also arose Tuesday night.

Redmond said he had five teachers who had volunteered to serve on the committee, and that he would give their names again.

Neal said he felt the intent of the school committee's motion setting up the committee was that parents be involved in the philosophy behind the moves as well as in the planning.

"It doesn't sound like it has been to any great extent," he said.

The proposed plan would move three special education classes: one from West to South, and one each from West and Shawsheen to Sanborn for next year.

The proposed class sizes, under the plan would be as follows:

Bancroft - Kindergarten, 62 pupils to 1.5 teachers, or a ratio of 20.6:1; Readiness, 18 pupils to one teacher, or 18:1; Grade 1, 69 pupils in three classes, or 23:1; Grade 2, 81 pupils in three classes, or 27:1; Grade 3, 83 pupils in three classes, or 27.6:1; Grade 4, 92 pupils to 3 classes, or 30.6:1; Grade 5, 93 pupils to 3 classes, or 31.0:1; and Grade 6, 103 pupils to four classes, 25.7:1, for a schoolwide ratio of 27.9:1.

Sanborn - Kindergarten, 48 pupils to one class, 24:1; Grade 2, 34 pupils to two classes, 17:1; Grade 2, 56 pupils to two classes, 28:1; Grade 3, 56 pupils to two classes, 28:1; Grade 4, 70 pupils to three classes, 23.3:1; Grade 5, 82 pupils to three classes, 27.3:1; and Grade 6, 83 pupils to three classes, 27.6:1, for an overall ratio of 26.8:1.

South - Kindergarten, 40 pupils to one teacher, 20:1; Grade 1, 46 pupils to two classes, 23:1; Grade 2, 45 pupils to two classes, 22.5:1; Grade 3, 60 pupils to three teachers, 20:1; Grade 4, 50 pupils to two teachers, 25:1; Grade 5, 69 pupils to three classes, 23:1; and Grade 6, 64 pupils to two teachers, 32:1, or a schoolwide ratio of 24.9:1.

Bats have been regarded throughout the world with fear, contempt, and esteem. Medieval European artists often painted bat wings on figures represent-

In Musical

The Phillips Academy presentation of 'Camelot' will feature local talent during its May 15 and 26 production. Paula Muto and Suzanne Tanner of Andover are shown with Chris Donahue and Choreographer Madelon Curtis.

Academy To Present Camelot

"Camelot," the majestic musical with book and lyrics by Alan Jay Lerner and music by Frederick Loewe, will be the annual Phillips Academy spring musical produced by the Department of Theatre. Performances will be on May 15 and 16 at 8 p.m. in George Washington Hall on the Phillips Academy campus.

Directed by Frank Bellizia, chairman of the Department of Theatre and Dance, with music direction by William Clift and choreography by Madelon Curtis of Lowell, "Camelot" recounts the chivalry, courage and color of the medieval King Arthur's Round Table, his search for justice and peace, and the ill-fated romance of the beautiful Guinevere and her handsome lover, Sir Lancelot. King Arthur and his knights can not maintain their ancient order of nobility against the forces of Mordred, Arthur's illegitimate son, but as the kingdom crumbles, the characters romp through some of the most lively dancing, stirring music and colorful dialogue in modern musical theatre.

Local students with roles in the production are Christopher Donahue of North Andover, playing King Pellinore, and Suzanne Tanner and Paula Muto, both of Andover, members of the royal court of Camelot.

Tickets may be ordered through the PA Theatre Department by calling the academy.

The largest single sheet of glass ever made measured 65 feet, 7 inches by 8 feet, 2 1/2 inches. It was produced by the Saint Gobain Company in France in 1958.

Addison To Celebrate Jubilee

Fulton Drug, 1938, by Walker Evans
Addison Gallery of American Art

A full and colorful afternoon, including the opening of six exhibitions will highlight the beginning of Addison Art Gallery's 50th anniversary Saturday.

With the gallery banner flying, a geometric sculpture of 1500 shiny cardboard boxes will be unveiled at noon on the lawn in front of the gallery on the Phillips Academy campus.

The 'sculpture' will then be dismantled and enjoyed as box lunches by the 1500 participants in the jubilee celebration.

The colorful opening will be one of several events included in the afternoon program which continues with the opening exhibits, art-making workshops, music, drama and seminars by artists, sculptors and historians, all of whom either studied or taught at the academy.

A parade of 20-foot puppets will take place at 3:30 p.m.

At 4:30 p.m., Chris Cook, Addison director, and Robert Walker, chairman of the Addison Fund Drive campaign, will speak in the Underwood Room at the Academy, on the future of the gallery and the campaign planned.

A reception and dinner is scheduled for 6 p.m. at the Athletic complex with Pulitzer

Diabetic Program

Over 9,000 diabetic children between the ages of seven and 15, who must have insulin shots every day, have already participated in the special medical/recreational summer program at the Clara L. ton Camp in North Oxford since it opened in 1982.

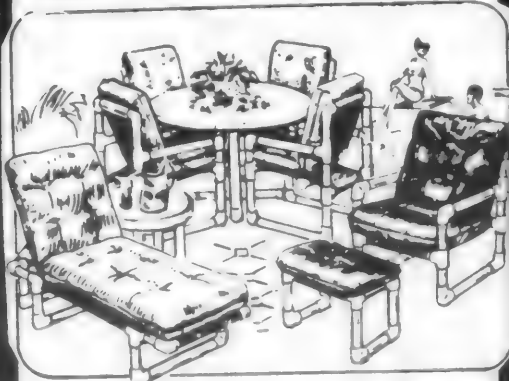

The 41-member program and medical staff will again offer two week sessions that include swimming, tennis, canoeing, volley ball — learning by doing, to help young insulin-dependent children accept responsibility for their own medical program.

Jump Rope Benefit At South

On Saturday, May 9th, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Andover students will be jumping rope to benefit the American Heart Association in a "Jump Rope for Heart" at the South School.

"Jump Rope" is an event designed to demonstrate the benefits of cardiovascular disease through rope jumping. Participants are divided into teams of six and will obtain pledges based upon the number of minutes jumped by their team for a maximum of three hours.

The event is co-sponsored by MAPHER.

Mrs. Dorothy Christopher, Physical Education Teacher and organizer of the event noted that Jump Rope for Heart promotes the alliances message of the life long benefits of regular physical exercise. It also demonstrates how team work can be used to reach a common goal as students and teachers work together to raise money to help fight Heart Disease.

Pledges collected from sponsors of their jump roping efforts will contribute to the local Heart Association programs of research, education, and community service.

Named Choral Director

Douglas Taylor

At DePauw University's Spring Parents Weekend, it was announced that Douglas Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Taylor, has been named director of "Men of Note," a prestigious 17 voice student-run men's choral group. It is a special distinction for a member of the freshman class to receive this appointment. "Men of Note" performs informally and in concert on and off the DePauw University campus and includes popular, spiritual and barbershop selections in their repertoire.

Doug, a 1980 graduate of Andover High School, is enrolled in the School of Music at DePauw University as a music-business major. He is an active participant in the University Concert Choir, and has been elected song leader of Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity, where he has established a men's choir. Doug recently produced and directed a musical entry for Lambda Chi in the university's annual Cycle-O-Rama Sing competition, placing third in a field of nineteen entries.

Founded in 1877, DePauw University, located in Greencastle, Indiana, is a private co-educational Liberal Arts university offering undergraduate majors and pre-professional programs in over 30 areas. More than 2300 students from 46 states and 20 nations are enrolled. The School of Music is among the first to have been established in the nation.

Winners At District Competition

Kurt Nickerson, a sixth grade French horn player from the West Elementary School, and John Pelz, a sixth grade pianist from the Bancroft School, won medals for their fine solo performances at the Northeast District Solo and ensemble Festival sponsored by the Mass. Music Educators' Association in Littleton on May 2.

Kurt and John have participated in several Andover public school musical groups. Their next performance will be with the Andover Elementary All-School Band at a concert open to the public at Andover High school at 7:30 p.m. on May 28. This concert will combine the talents of the All-School Band, Townwide Chorus and Townwide Orchestra.

Prize-winning author Robert Coles as speaker.

The public is invited to the highlight of the celebration, the simultaneous opening of six exhibits, offering a kaleidoscope of American Art from Winslow Homer seascapes to photographer Sandy Skoglund's "Radioactive Cats." The exhibits demonstrate the gallery's penchant for exploring a variety of avenues of art.

All exhibits will open at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 9, the day of the celebration.

The Addison collection is "one of the richest of all those specializing in American art, ranging from early colonial times to the present day," according to Boston Museum of Fine Arts Director Jan Fontein, and the best of the Addison will be featured in Masterworks From The Addison Collection. The artists represented span more than two centuries of American art and include Copley, West, Inness, Homer, Remington, Twachtman, Prendergast, Bruce, Maurer, Hartley, Bellows, Davies, Hopper, Avery, Hofmann and Pollock.

"New, Now, New York" explores the cutting edge of contemporary American art. The exhibit takes a hard look at strong, young emerging artists working in the world's art capital. Among the artists selected are Crowder, Shapiro, Nelson, Zucker, Shabel, Lane and Sultan. Robert A. Feldman '54, president of Parasol Press in New York and a publisher of fine art, is the guest curator for this exhibition.

"Sandy Skoglund—Radioactive Cats" brings together two kinds of art with which the Addison has long been concerned, environmental sculpture and photography. It presents an environment constructed specifically for the purpose of being photographed and the resultant photograph which, writes Pamela Allara in Art News, "is initially amusing but quickly becomes unsettling." Skoglund's work has been widely shown, including exhibitions at the Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge, MA; the Texas Gallery, Houston, TX; and, most recently, the Whitney Biennale in New York. "Radioactive Cats" is arranged through the courtesy of the Leo Castelli Gallery, New York.

"Secondary Impressions" focuses on high quality work by students at Phillips Academy, member schools of the art association of New England Preparatory Schools and Andover High School. The exhibit underscores the Addison's conviction, as a teaching museum, that a critical, appreciative eye is best developed initially for adolescents through direct experience in the opportunities—and difficulties—of making art.

During the celebration, Phillips Academy students and faculty will produce in the Gallery a Wall Drawing By Sol Lewitt in accord with his instructions. Lewitt, a New York artist, has designed a series of works to be produced by people other than the artist. He has made available this particular mixed-media drawing especially for the Addison's 50th Anniversary.

For 45 of its 50 years the Addison has recognized the art of photography through exhibitions and purchases for the collection. "Looking At America: American Photography From 1850-1950," an exhibit assembled entirely from the collection, spans more than a century in the history of American photography and presents, in addition to a visual history of the nation, key works by some of America's greatest photographers. The artist represented include: Timothy O'Sullivan, Edward Weston, Ansel Adams, Minor White, Paul Strand, Walker Evans and Margaret Bourke-White.

The Addison Gallery is open to the public free of charge. Regular museum hours are: Tuesday—Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; Sundays 2:30-5:30 p.m.

Yolanda Mendez of Gemini Circle, with some of the fabric creation she will be displaying during the annual Andover Crafts in the Park to be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at The Park, corner Chestnut and Bartlet streets. The event which benefits the AFS program at the high school, will also include the work of several local artists and craftsmen.

About The Moths

Since last August, the tan, fuzzy egg masses of the gypsy moth have been on tree trunks, old tires, wood piles, and so on. Tiny caterpillars have developed inside them says Mass. Audubon.

On some egg cases you will see tiny holes where parasitic wasps have killed some of the caterpillars.

Despite parasites and cold weather, plenty of eggs remain and they will be hatching soon.

It is still not too late to scrape unhatched egg cases off favorite trees. Be sure to bury the eggs or put them in kerosene

Street Dog Placed Under Observation

25 THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 7, 1981

The selectmen have ordered a Doberman pinscher owned by an Andover Street family placed under observation for 15 days, after neighbors complained that the dog attacked two of their cats, killing one.

Nancy Townsend of Center Street Monday night told the board that the dog, owned by Lawrence and Ann Kilduff, often wanders around the Ballardvale neighborhood. She complained to the dog officer on April 21 that the dog had attacked her cats in a neighbor's backyard the day before. One cat died, and the other required a veterinarian's care costing $80, she said.

"I have four small children and I'm petrified to death," Townsend said. "My children are afraid. I'm sure it will happen again. It's very, very scary."

She added that she was especially concerned because there are many small children in the neighborhood, and the Kilduffs live across the street from the Ballardvale playground.

Dog Officer William Canane explained that several neighbors told him the dog sometimes runs loose. On the day Townsend called him, he found the dog at the Soap Box laundromat, he said.

"Quite a few people in the area do feel that this is a problem," Canane reported. "Two or three neighbors said that when the dog does run, it really runs rampant. The dog has shown vicious tendencies."

Ann Kilduff responded that there was no reason to believe her dog would attack a child because it had attacked the cats.

"Dogs do not like cats. It is a natural instinct. But there is a difference between a cat and a child."

However, Chairman Norma Gammon pointed out that the Kilduffs had been in violation of the town's leash law. "Your dog should be on a leash at all times," she told Kilduff. "You have disobeyed the law of this town by letting the dog run loose, and that dog has now killed a cat."

Kilduff said she had "no argument" that the leash law had been broken. She explained that the dog "does not like to be tied," and is able to chew through its rope and slip out of its collar.

Selectman Edward Harris suggested that the Kilduffs use a chest harness to restrain the dog, and make sure its identification tags are attached to that harness.

Selectman Donn Byrne moved that the Kilduff's dog be placed under observation for 15 days beginning Tuesday. If the dog is found running loose, it will be impounded, and the case brought back before the selectmen.

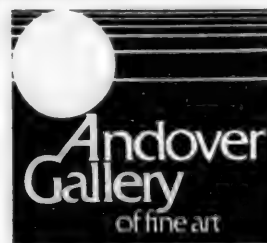

"There is no reason for the people down there to live in fear of an animal," Byrne said. The selectmen voted unanimously in favor of the motion.

Selectman Susan Poore warned Kilduff that if the dog is impounded, "the board is capable of taking far more serious measures. We would like to give the dog a chance, but the safety factor is critical."

"My dog is not the only loose doberman in Ballardvale," Kilduff said. "I will invest in a harness and I will abide by your ruling. But I want to see those other dogs leashed as well."

Poore suggested that more surveillance of the Ballardvale area may be necessary, and that perhaps stricter measures should be taken against repeat lawbreakers. Harris added that the $15 fine for first offenders should possibly be increased as well.

Kindergarten Noon Bus Is Restored

27 THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 7, 1981

Nearly 100 of next year's kindergartners got a surprise present from the school committee Tuesday night, when the board voted noontime bus service for those who live between a mile and a mile and a half from school.

The committee had voted last month to cut back busing for elementary pupils, including kindergartners, to those who live more than a mile and a half away.

The morning kindergartners who live between a mile and a mile and a half will, in fact, still trek to school in the morning with the other elementary youngsters, and their afternoon counterparts will walk home with the older kids after school.

But Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert reported Tuesday night that it would cost little more to pick up those youngsters between a mile and a mile and a half from school during the midday runs for the kindergartners who live farther away.

He said half-empty buses would otherwise be driving right past those youngsters.

The major change for all riders is that they will now be expected to walk some distance to centralized bus stops.

That means an end to the "door-to-door" service for kindergartners, or what one committeeman Tuesday night called "service right to their bedrooms." Committeeman Dick Neal expressed concern for the kindergartners walking a ways to or from their bus stops at noon, when there might not be any other children there.

But, he said, "there's got to be a burden assumed by parents to get their kids to the bus stop safely."

The motion by Neal to offer the service to the extra kindergartners was seconded by Mike Giammusso, and received a 4-1 vote from the committee, with Donald Robb voting "no" with no comment.

Based on the pre-registrations for next year, 178 kindergartners live more than a mile and a half from school and would have been bused anyway. Lowering the limit to one mile means that another 89 riders will be added.

A total of 6.5 buses would have been needed in the first instance, at a total of about $27,000, and those figures will remain the same with the extra riders.

Sorority Honored On Jubilee

Greetings from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and a proclamation signed by the Andover board of selectmen declaring April 30 Beta Sigma Phi Day were read at the 50th Anniversary Founder's Day banquet of the international sorority at DiBurro's restaurant in Bradford last Thursday.

Beta Sigma Phi was founded by seven members in Abilene, Kansas, in 1931, as a cultural, social and service organization for women. Today its roster represents 250,000 active members in over 12,000 chapters in 33 countries throughout the world, with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

Beta Mu chapter received its charter in Andover in 1955 and last year observed its 25th anniversary with several charter members in attendance. The three local chapters represent members from Andover, North Andover, Georgetown, Haverhill and several towns in southern New Hampshire.

Highlights of the year in their respective chapters were given by Donna Coyle for Beta Mu, Michaela Murphy for Xi Sigma, and Lorraine Farrell for Preceptor. Announcement was made by Ruth Seikunas, vice president of Preceptor Zeta, of the gift by that chapter of an official highway sign welcoming travelling Beta Sigma Phi's to be posted in Andover.

Beta Sigma Phi's Founder's Day pledge was led by Emily Cook, followed by a special message from Walter W. Ross, III, son of the founder, delivered by Beth Matthews. Sandy Foisy, president of Beta Mu, this year's hostess chapter, presided. Following awards, the meeting was closed by Cindi Adams, chairman of Founder's Day '81.

Program for the evening was licensed palmist, Marion Evans, who told about the origin of palm reading and read the palms of all members present.

PRESENTED BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH DRAMATISTS PLAY SERVICE INC., NEW YORK, NEW YORK

In Charge Of Event

John Walsh, Jr. (extreme right), Baker curator of Paintings at the Museum of Fine Arts, discusses Camille Pissarro's painting, "The Turkey Girl," with Mrs. John W. Kimball and Mrs. S. Leonard Kent, both of Andover. Mrs. Kimball is chairman and Mrs. Kent, assistant chairman, of the series of events planned for MFA members attending the opening of the exhibition "Camille Pissarro: The Unexplored Impressionist," beginning May 19.

"Geyser" is a word that comes to us from the Icelandic "geysa," meaning "to rush furiously."

Chairing Museum Event

A series of special events to celebrate the opening of the exhibition "Camille Pissarro: The Unexplored Impressionist" at the Museum of Fine Arts will be offered to museum members and guests on May 19, 20 and 21.

Mrs. John W. Kimball, Andover, chairman of the Pissarro Opening Events Committee, Mrs. S. Leonard Kent, Andover, assistant chairman, and Mrs. John W. McArdle, Jr., advisor, of the MFA's Ladies Committee will assist during the three-day schedule of receptions. Museum members will be able to preview this major retrospective which marks the 150th anniversary of the artist's birth on Tuesday, May 19, as well as partake of "Cafe au Musee" in the morning and afternoon. Evening receptions, "Divertisse-ment avec Pissarro," will be held on May 20 and 21.

Making its only U.S. museum appearance in Boston, "Camille Pissarro: The Unexplored Impressionist" includes more than 90 paintings and 100 prints and drawings. The exhibition, the result of work by an international committee, opened at the Hayward Gallery in London in the fall 1980, and at the Grand Palais, Paris, France, in January of this year. The Boston exhibition includes major paintings not seen in Europe because they were either too fragile to travel or their owners were unable to lend their paintings for a long period of time.

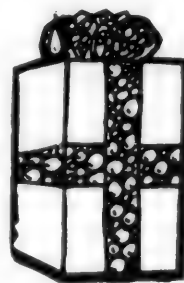

The exhibition opens to the public on Wednesday, May 20, and continues through Aug. 9.

Spring peepers, about the size of a thumbnail, are hard to find because their color blends in with the surroundings, and they stop peeping when approached closer than 20 feet. The normal color is tan to brown, but they can change to match their perch. The upward sliding, note is made by passing air through the nostrils over vocal chords. It is increased in volume by a pouch under the throat. Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Religious Seminar Offered

The experience of religious conversion is often the result of personal conflict or crisis and the need for a change.

Therefore, it is important to learn to recognize yourself as a whole person: religiously, spiritually and intellectually, when dealing with conflict.

A seminar titled "Wholeness and religious Conversion," sponsored by Bon Secours Hospital Department of Pastoral Services, May 6, from 8:30 - 12:15 p.m. will help individuals explore a developmental concept of conflict and crisis which can occur at any time throughout life.

The program's speaker, James A. Manganello, A.M., Ed.D., M.P.H., has served as a consulting psychologist at Erich Lindemann Mental Health Center in Boston, and as a clinical psychologist at the North Shore Counseling Center in Beverly. Currently he is an administrative consultant to independent health practitioners and health care agencies for planning coordinated services, service delivery, manpower resources and budgetary strategies.

Manganello will help participants identify the key elements that make up a whole person while learning how to recognize the sources of conflict and crisis that may cause difficulty and interfere with personal growth.

"Wholeness and Religious Conversion," is designed for clergy, health care professionals, social workers, and others interested in the religious and spiritual aspects of treating the whole person.

Planners Want Planters

After working for two years on plans to make Elm Square greener, members of the Central Business District committee were alarmed to learn that the selectmen had unceremoniously cut $10,000 for special planters from the town budget.

Working under a tight Proposition 2½ budget, the selectmen recently voted to drop the article from the budget to be considered by town meeting next month. The money was to have been used for portable concrete planters to be placed in Elm Square during the warm months, and stored in Spring Grove cemetery during the winter.

But Frank McBride, Susan Tucker and Pamela St. John of the CBD committee appeared before selectmen Monday night to express their dismay that the article had been dropped. Planting greenery in Elm Square is part of the square redesign project, to be funded with state and federal money.

The committee had settled on the planters as a compromise after months of discussions with state officials. McBride said. Public Works Director Robert McQuade had said permanent planters would interfere with snow removal. But the state was unwilling to pay for portable planters, so the committee agreed that the town would pick up the cost, he explained.

"We want you to know that a lot of reasoning went into why it was done this way," McBride told the selectmen. "Our intent was to make the center of town much prettier than it is now."

The CBD committee is unhappy with the board's decision because "we would like to see town meeting make that decision — not the selectmen."

Tucker added that some committee members now fear that overall plans to plant in the square may be in jeopardy. "This has worried some of us that the whole thing would get lost," she said. "We are very concerned about it."

"The big concern is that that square be green," St. John commented. "People really want a green area."

Selectman Susan Poore assured the committee members that the selectmen are well aware of plans for the square, and still support plans to plant the area. Deletion of the article will not effect the planting to be funded by the state, she pointed out.

The article was dropped in the face of "budget constraints," Poore explained, adding that she believes the planters could be funded through "public subscription," rather than tax dollars.

"That makes a lot of sense," McBride replied, "but I would like to see the town of Andover decide that they don't want to spend the money. They have that right."

"The town is not going to decide a lot of things this year that they might want to,"

Poore said.

Edward Harris supported Poore's stand. "You've got to bear in mind that we've had to make substantial cutbacks in the budget," he told McBride.

McBride said the concrete planters would cost $300-$400 each, and that he was not certain how the $10,000 figure had been reached.

Selectman Donn Byrne suggested that $1,000 be added to the highway budget, so that a few "trial" planters could be purchased. Chairman Norma Gammon supported that idea, but Poore and Harris vetoed it.

Artfully Handling The Details

By Linda S. Corbett

The Addison Gallery of American Art was a flurry of activity this week, with workmen raking leaves and pruning bushes and washing down the marble steps of the imposing edifice.

The bustle continued inside, where Nicki Thiras, the "Number 2 man," so to speak, was putting finishing touches on Saturday's grand finale to the museum's 50th anniversary year: fielding calls, proofing pages from the printer, giving directions and responding to people lined up three deep in front of her desk.

"Do the five heads show?" she asked, reaching for her top.

Yes, it's been a "frantic" year, she admits, with the Addison putting on a major exhibition every month in an effort to bring its auspicious collection to the attention of the public.

While Saturday also marks the launch of a $4.7 million fund drive, however, Nicki says it will mean an effort of another kind, and the museum staff won't be involved "in the same rugged way."

Andover born and bred and a product of Andover schools, Nicki came to the Addison in 1950 as a secretary to Bartlett H. Hayes, Jr., who remained director until 1969.

Her limited knowledge of art mushroomed, she says, "under the tutelage" of Hayes, and by "learning and absorbing" from the artists and works around her. The school's art studio was in the basement of the museum and "there was time to dream then," she says. "And the school was a lot smaller."

"In a small museum you do so many things," continues Nicki, who went on to become Hayes' assistant, and then registrar as well as assistant director. "You see all facets of the gallery, whereas in a larger museum you are bracketed in one department or another."

As registrar, Nicki controls all the works that come in and out of the museum, seeing to insurance and the like. She's involved, with the director, in setting up exhibitions from the beginning, working with the artists, arranging shipments, setting up the opening festivities and, of course, welcoming show-goers.

She was plunged right into the thick of things from the beginning, with a Hans Hofmann exhibition.

"We've done many shows of national scope," she says, and she's particularly pleased that the museum provides these offerings to the community at large. The Addison is increasingly serving the entire Boston area, as well as the Merrimack Valley, she says.

Hayes, Nicki says, did great summer outreach programs with teachers "so the public schools could enlarge their horizons." He wanted students to be exposed to art "early on."

Christopher Cook became director in 1969 and has continued outreach through art therapy programs. An artist himself, he has been "very much involved with artists of the Boston area," Nicki says. He's particularly interested in giving exposure to contemporary work being done in the Merrimack Valley and elsewhere, and one of the six exhibits opening this weekend is the art of some outstanding young New Yorkers.

"They're great fun," Nicki says of the modern works. Not everyone will nec-

Developers Would Like Shattuck Road A Public Way

By Sue Aucella Deacon

West Andover Industrial Tech Park may be a crown jewel in the state's industrial development, but one of its roads began to look a little tarnished during a Planning Board meeting last Thursday night.

The Tech Park developers would like Shattuck Road, one of three main roadways in the 690-acre park, to eventually become a public road, maintained by the town. The road was designed to meet the town's specifications for a public way.

Town officials, however, are more than a little reluctant to accept responsibility for the street. Street acceptances are approved by town meeting.

Earlier this month the park developer, Arkwright-Boston Insurance, requested that the planners recognize a lot in the southwest quadrant as a subdivision, a legal necessity because the lot does not front on any public way. Arkwright needed the subdivision approval before it could sell the land to GCA Corp., which holds an option on the lot.

Town officials recommended that the planners approve the request — but with the stipulation that Shattuck Road would never be presented to town meeting for acceptance as a public way.

Arkwright representatives argued strenuously — and, finally, successfully — against that restriction for nearly two hours last Thursday. The planners voted three to one to approve the subdivision without the restriction. Planner David Gravalles favored the restriction, while Chairman Frank McBride abstained because he did not hear the entire discussion.

Steve Kasnet of R.M. Bradley Co., industrial real estate agent for Arkwright, explained that the developer recently made a sale agreement for 95 acres in the park, which will leave only 26 undeveloped acres.

"We can now see an end to Arkwright being an active developer in the park," he told the planners. "Arkwright will not be in Andover — it owns no developed land or buildings in the park."

It would be a hardship for Arkwright to maintain the road from its Waltham headquarters, Kasnet said. He added that it would be difficult and impractical for the developer to require the several industries located along the road to maintain it.

He emphasized that Arkwright was asking only for "the right to ask town meeting. If the town says no, we'll find another way."

The developer "has expended close to $3 million in building roads and utilities in 690 acres in Andover," Kasnet pointed out, and believes there is a "reasonable chance" the road would be accepted. Shattuck Road would be the only public road in the entire park; two other main roadways are owned by two industries.

Planners Andrew Girdwood, Jerry Greer and Jack Tomlinson agreed that town meeting should decide whether the street should be accepted. "It seems logical to me that it should be a town road," Girdwood explained. "I don't know how the town can expect a developer to maintain a road in perpetuity. It seems the appropriate forum is town meeting."

But Gravalles said there is a "well-established precedent" for maintaining

Unwarranted Delay

Andover selectmen have finally awarded a Cable TV license.

The award of the franchise this week to Rollins Cablevision culminates several months of delaying a decision which could have been made last October.

And, even with the award, there still remains the potential of additional examination and possible legal costs for the town as the firm begins to move forward with its planning and engineering a system for the town.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark has asked selectmen for the ability to seek funds if necessary to have the contract examined by counsel and also be able to call upon consultants if necessary.

All of this seems highly unnecessary and almost as much of a waste of time as retaining consultants to examine the original proposal presented by Rollins and Continental Cablevision of Lawrence last October.

The consultant firm was retained at the expense of the competing firms, which resulted in a $12,000 cost being borne by Rollins and Continental.

Continental was a firm established in the area and had submitted its proposal to the Andover Cable Advisory committee last year. Rollins also became a bidder on the Andover service, along with another firm which ultimately dropped out of consideration.

The advisory group, an unpaid committee composed of Atty. Reginald Marden, James Caldwell and John Sweeney spent considerable time and energy examining the proposals, and visiting locations where the proponents had systems in operation.

Following this, the advisors prepared a documented report and recommendation to selectmen, who are the issuing authority for the license, with the Rollins firm given the nod, based primarily on what they proposed to offer Andover residents.

In the studied opinion of the committee, Rollins had the better proposal, even though Continental was already established in the area.

But, selectmen decided that it would be best to secure the opinion of outside consultants to make further examination into the Rollins and Continental proposals, delaying the decision about six months until this week.

The consultants found that the Rollins bid may have been underestimated. Thomas Byrd, vice president of Rollins told selectmen this week the firm was prepared to spend the necessary money to perform as they had proposed in Andover and still maintain fees as outlined for a two year period.

So, based on this information, the selectmen decided to award the license to Rollins, something they could have done six months ago and allowed the firm to proceed to provide the service to Andover residents. The service involves more than just home entertainment. There are such things as home protection, business procedures and other items which will be available to the community, which is also to be totally serviced by Rollins, whereas other proposals did not include the entire town.

It is hoped that Rollins will now proceed with their engineering, planning and design of the system and that their ten-month timetable for system construction can be accomplished.

Assuredly Continental is disappointed over its loss of the local franchise, but like all others in this rapidly-growing business, they had the opportunity to make a proposal, and the competitor's was better.

The most unfortunate part of the whole affair is that the decision took so long and that the original recommendation made by Andover residents asked to do a job for their community was not given enthusiastic and immediate support.

It is further hoped that there will be no necessity for the retaining of additional counsel, or more consultants to look over the contracts before the Rollins work gets underway.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — May 1906

The local school teachers enjoyed a bird walk through Indian Ridge yesterday morning which was held under the auspices of the Audubon Natural History Society.

An unusual interest is taken by local people in the great calamity at San Francisco, as many have relatives and friends living there. A meeting for the relief of the sufferers in San Francisco will be held in the Chapel Sunday morning.

A slight fire occurred in the batching house at Smith and Dove's mill shortly after work had begun on Wednesday morning which was ably handled by the mill fire department. The fire spread through the light substance rapidly and it seemed as though it would reach large proportions but after a short fight it was extinguished. The automatic sprinklers, with which the entire mill is equipped, worked perfectly and did much to avert a serious loss.

An announcement from the great banking house of Lee, Higginson and Co. in Boston carries the very pleasing news that an Andover young man, Mr. David Shaw, has been promoted to a member in the firm. The road is not short, and it calls for a pretty steady grind to cover it, but it does lead in many ways to success if the grind and the ability are united.

Golf is dragging a little in Andover, and it ought not to do so, because there are so many reasons for it to boom. The Andover Golf Club has an attractive course, a splendid organization, a convenient club house, and the nucleus of a good membership. Be a golfer! And even better, be a member of the Andover golf club!

50 Years Ago — May 1931

Nearly 40 alarms have kept firemen busy during the past week. An untenanted house in Shawsheen village and the garage of Dr. John Hartigan on Locke street were totally destroyed. 75 acres of woodland bounded by Woburn street, Ballardvale road, Sunset Rock road and Porter road, were burned over and there have been numerous threatening grass and brush fires.

On Monday, the long anticipated Essex County Christian Endeavor Convention will be the principal attraction in Andover. From the reception of delegates at nine o'clock in the morning to the start of the Parade at 9:30 over a thousand young people of Essex County will march, sing, and worship together until the last benediction after the evening session.

The May breakfast sponsored annually by General William F. Bartlett Woman's Relief Corps 127 will be omitted this year according to a vote taken at a meeting of the corps held Tuesday evening. The business depression is given as a reason for the omission, and the members of the corps expect that with improved conditions, the breakfast will be held as usual next year.

25 Years Ago — May 1956

Solution of at least four store breaks may hinge on a report from the state police crime lab. Chief David Nicoll reported Tuesday afternoon. He said there is a definite suspect and that the report is needed to further the investigation.

The selectmen will make a decision on the future of the Acme Concrete Company within two weeks. At a hearing Monday night, they heard residents of Fletcher, Shepley and Binney streets complain about the yard's operations at the old Cross Coal yard on Fletcher street. A spokesman for many of the residents accused the firm of bad faith in its activities here.

The school committee has appointed four consultants to help it with plans and costs for the South school. The board decided last weekend to ask four professional men, identified with construction, banking and law, to act in an advisory capacity as plans are presented for the new elementary school.

Applications for fishing and boating permits on Haggett's pond will be received by the Board of Public Works on and after May 1. The board decided Monday night to take applications starting the first of the month in compliance with a state law that allows the use of municipal areas for those purposes.

10 Years Ago — May 1971

School committeeman Dr. Daniel Frishman, who last year originated the proposal of having a teacher and a student join the committee this year as non-voting members, wants to try another way to hear from teachers and students next year, because so few teachers are interested in becoming teacher representatives.

Rejection of the Doherty school addition by town meeting will still cost the town some money. Town Manager J. Maynard Austin reported this week that the total cost of the program to date is $136,100. This includes architect's fees for the plans provided to date along with acquisition of the Hurley property on Bartlett street and demolition of buildings on that site. As yet the town has not received a final bill from Architect Frank Crimp.

Rules have been released on the first annual Shawsheen River Canoe Races by Al French, race chairman. Races will be held rain or shine on Saturday, May 1. Families and contestants are urged to bring a lunch for picnicking on the AVIS Shawsheen and Vale reservations while

WEEKLY SPECIAL

State experts skeptical about Cuban oil strikeBy JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON — State Department analysts are frantically trying to verify startling reports that Cuba might become an oil-producing nation. Mexican technicians drilling off the coast of the island nation reportedly have discovered valuable new deposits of under-water crude.

The U.S. embassy in Mexico City has informed the State Department: "There is speculation that Cuban oil strata are part of a major oil-bearing geological structure stretching from the Gulf of Mexico through the Caribbean to Venezuela."

The ramifications of such a discovery, of course, are enormous. If Fidel Castro has his own petroleum, it could salvage his battered economy and make him economically independent of the Soviet Union.

That's why the American embassy in Mexico City is trying desperately to confirm the reports of an oil strike off Cuba. The U.S. diplomats cabled Washington that the Mexicans claim to have "succeeded in finding commercial deposits of crude oil in offshore waters 20 kilometers north of (Havana's) beaches."

The embassy also relayed unconfirmed reports that Mexican technicians capped the oil deposit after drilling down 3,000 meters. These same accounts say that efforts to determine how much oil is there have so far been unsuccessful.

So far, State Department experts remain skeptical. One source in Foggy Bottom said they "have no evidence that there have been drilling rigs 20 kilometers north of Havana. They have not undertaken any new seismic studies that we are aware of. It's just based on an optimistic new reading of old studies."

If the reports of Cuban oil prove to be correct, however, the find could have important effects on the balance of power in Latin America. Castro is currently accepting almost $10 million a day from the Kremlin, but he still resents being called a Soviet stooge.

Most of Castro's oil also comes from the Soviet Union. Last year, we are told, the Russians sent Cuba less oil than Castro had asked for. As a result, Cuba's industrial growth was seriously affected. That is one of the reasons Castro entered into an oil exploration deal with the Mexicans.

The actual discovery of oil in Cuban waters -- if true -- would not give Fidel Castro immediate economic benefits. But in the long run, it would enable him to achieve a degree of independence from the Kremlin that he hasn't had since the early days of his 1959 revolution.

SALT OR NO SALT? -- Should the United States sit down with the Russians for another round of arms control talks? This is the subject of a heated, behind-the-scenes debate in intelligence circles.

A top-secret Central Intelligence Agency analysis spells out what is at stake in the decision. The report offers these possibilities:

The most optimistic of the CIA's predictions is that the Soviets will stick to the SALT II restraints on nuclear missiles. If they do, perhaps only 4,116 warheads would be added to the Soviet missile arsenal.

The second possibility also assumes that the Russians will stick to the SALT II restrictions. But the Soviets could replace two of their existing missile systems with a new one that would put 10 nuclear warheads on a single missile. This would mean a maximum of 6,456 warheads.

The trouble is, of course, that SALT II has never been ratified by Congress. The treaty, therefore, is dead. And that leads to the CIA's third possibility: It may soon be a "SALT-free world."

This would be a bleak prospect. The Soviets might decide to ignore all limitations. By 1989, estimates the CIA, they could produce an additional 23,106 warheads.

Suffice it to say there would be no place to hide.

WATCH ON WASTE -- Every day, diners at the posh House of Representatives dining room can order from a freshly printed menu which features the daily specials. Few of Washington's most expensive restaurants go to the expense of printing daily menus. But the Capitol dining room -- which features taxpayer-subsidized meals -- spent more than $100,000 for menus last year.

In the final days of President Carter's rule, 132 top executives at the Department of Education quietly gave themselves more than $126,000 in bonuses for superior job performance. The cash is actually supposed to go to devoted bureaucrats.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES -- Top White House aides say that Secretary of State Alexander Haig has not been forgiven for his "I'm-in-control" outburst the day the president was shot. Our sources say President Reagan plans to call Haig in for a heart-to-heart talk as soon as he's feeling up to it ... The president has chosen a lumberjack to guard the public forests. The new assistant secretary of agriculture who will watch over the national forests is John Crowell, a former top official of Louisiana Pacific -- the nation's largest purchaser of public timber ... White House budget experts estimate that federal bureaucrats took 16 million trips on official business in 1979. These travels cost the Treasury nearly $3 billion.

Heading For Finish

Andover High's Kelly Shannon puts on a burst of speed heading for the finish line in the Andover High Girls' 1500-meter event against Phillips Academy last Saturday.

By Kelly Shannon

Last Saturday the Andover Girls Track Team increased their record to 3-1 by defeating Phillips Academy at the Phillips' track, 83-35. Andover captured all but four first places and swept two events. Head Coach Richard Collins was pleased with the enthusiasm and team spirit of the girls.

In the high jump, Amy Lander cleared 5' to capture first place and Bryna Jones and Cynthia Surret placed second and third respectively. Patti Messersmith broke the tape in the 100 meter low hurdles with an excellent time of 16.6, while teammates Lisa Deluca and Pippi Saalfrank followed closely.

Bryna Jones and Amy Lander were both double winners. Jones won the discus with a remarkable throw of 112'3" and set another school record in the shotput of 39'7½". Lander, in addition to taking the high jump, led the way in the 400 meters with a time of 63.5.

In the 100 meters, Davyenne Williams ran to first place with an excellent time of 12.9 and Mary Beth Boland placed second. Barbara Cullinan won the 200 meters in 29.9 and Davyenne Williams came in second place. In the javelin, Leah Wragg threw 115'9" to take first and Wendy Hering took second.

Other second place finishers included: Amy Simpsom (shotput); Roberta Grasso (1500 meters); Sue Schwind (400 meters); and Lauren Whitley (800 meters).

Placing third were: Marcia Cummings (long jump); Kelly Shannon (1500 meters); Sally Bickerton (800 meters); and Anne Avery (discus).

Andover also won the 400 meters relay and the 1500 meters relay. The 400 meters relay consisted of Davyenne Williams, Marcia Cummings, Mary Beth Boland and anchorleg Barbara Cullinan (52.1). The 1500 meters relay recorded a time of 4:28.5 led by Lisa Deluca, Mary Beth Boland, Cynthia Surret and anchorleg Amy Lander.

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

An Under 12 Boys team, the Whitecaps, were losing 5-1 to the Timbers in the middle of the second half when they rallied and put on quite a display of goal scoring themselves. The Timbers were the eventual victors with a 7-5 win but the spirited Whitecaps certainly should take pride in their come from behind effort.

Brief results of all the games played last weekend, including make-up contests, appear below:

Under 10 Division:

Bucks 0 - Cobras 2

The Cobras tallied in the first quarter when Ames Prentiss kicked the ball into the Bucks' nets. The Bucks made some good attempts to even it up but good defense thwarted all efforts. In the final quarter, Mark Ziady tallied for the Cobras and they won a 2-0 victory. BOW: Jamie Gruener, Bryan Boucher and J. Michael Forlizzi.

Bears 3 - Cubs 3

The Bears tallied in the second quarter when Scott Livermore drilled in a long shot on a rebound. The Cubs came right back and tallied three goals (Peter Caruso and David Carnes(2) to take a commanding lead.) IN the last five minutes of play the spirited Bears put on the pressure and tied it up with two quick goals (Matthew Desruisseau on a pass from Steve Sorrie, and Danny Griffin on a pass from Andy Tine) and the game ended in a tie. BOW: Danny Surdam and Chris Allard (Bears) as well as Dan Ely and Chris Lowe (Cubs).

Hornets 3 - Bruins 1

The first two quarters were scoreless but the Hornets played a very determined third and fourth quarter, during which

It Was A High Flying Day

Nearly 65 enthusiastic participants accompanied by parents and friends entered the Department of Community Services' annual Kite Flying Day.

It was a perfect spring day and the beautiful breeze contributed to an ideal setting in which everyone could show off their flying skills and artistic kites. There were many homemade entries with original painted designs. One mother came with six children, hers and neighbors, and said she had gotten up early that morning to assist the kite making workshop in her kitchen.

One of the prettiest kites with a purple, blue face and a yellow and orange striped tail was flown by Matt McKinnon.

Peter and Justin Vanderpot made a fine Japanese "Koi" kite on a long, wooden pole. Many children spent a lot of time drawing and painting on their kites and came up with lovely creations. Donnie Shea painted a fire wizard on his kite.

Andover Trotters Advance

The Greater Andover Basketball Club coached by Frank Monette enjoyed another successful week of tournament play as again the 14 and under team and the Sophomore team advanced in separate tournaments with victories.

The 14 and under Andover Trotters team who won their preliminary game 46-35 over Newton a week ago in the Arlington Boys Club Tournament came back with a 37-35 come-from-behind victory over the Arlington Boys Club in the quarter-finals to move into the Semi-Finals of the 21 team tournament in the "C" Division. Out of the 21 teams entered in the tournament only 4 remain with the Andover Trotters being one of them and now will face Holland from Roxbury on May 14th with the winner going to the Finals in what Jim McCarthy of the WHDH Sports Huddle has called, "The best Tournament of its kind in New England." There are a total of 93 teams in the four divisions.

The 14 and under Andover Trotters pulled out this game coming from behind ten points down with five minutes left in the game. The Andover Trotters started off slow in the first quarter and were losing 11-6 after one quarter and 21-16 at the half, as Kevin Poole, Mike Wheeler each tossed in four points and Mark Tremblay and Tim Frahm scored 3 each with John Lahood getting 2 points. Arlington's Mike Power had 8 points and their top shooter Tim Dorsey 6 points with Jim Laurendew scoring 7 points. The third quarter was to get worse for the Trotters as they could only manage 5 points as Arlington scored 10 and had the lead 31-21 entering the final quarter. After a few different defensive changes the Andover Trotters started to make their move and with 4 minutes to go went into a full court pressure defense and scored the last 8 points of the game and got some key steals from John Lahood, Tim Farhm, Mike Wheeler and Kevin Poole in the closing minutes as Lahood stole the ball at mid-court and passed to Kevin Poole on an all-oop play to tie the score at 35 all and then Poole stole the ball on a scramble under the opponents basket and dribbled the length of the court with 2 defenders on him and scored on a pretty layup for the winning basket, and got fouled, with 33 seconds left. After missing the foul shot the Arlington team called time out but could not score on the great aggressive defense that Andover employed in the final 33 seconds. For the game the Andover Trotters leading scorer Kevin Poole again led the team tossing in 12 points as the well balanced attack of the Trotters were backed up by John Lahood and Mark Tremblay with 7 each, Mike Wheeler 6, and Tim Frahm 5 points. The Andover Trotters outscored Arlington 16-4 in the last quarter.

The Andover Trotters Sophomore Team had similar success except with a little more ease as they topped Tower Hill of Lawrence 56-43 in the Lawrence Jewish Community Center Tournament.

Last week the Sophomore outscored L.F.B. from Lawrence 62-34 in the first game of the tournament. The Sophomore Trotters now move into the quarterfinals vs. Methuen in this weeks action. In this weeks victory over Tower Hill, victory the game was only close after one quarter of play with the Andover Trotters leading 15-14 and then Andover gradually pulled away leading 29-22 at the half, 41-30 after three quarters and the final 56-43. Dick Kelley led Andover in the first half with 8 points followed by Andy Emmert with 6 points. In the second half Leo Parent and Andy Emmert led the scoring with 6 points each. The well balanced Andover they controlled much of the action and tallied on three occasions (John Mattola (2) on passes from Alan Hanley and Toby Frothingham, and Tony Frothingham on a pass from Fred Hohn). The Bruins did get the ball into the nets once but were still down at the final whistle. BOW: John Clough, David Orrick and Matt Zipeto (Hornets).

Rams 4 - Bulls 1

With only nine players on hand, the Bulls had an uphill battle holding off a spirited bunch of Rams who scored in the second, third and final quarter to take a commanding 4-0 lead (Matt Cinelli on a pass from Aaron Boutin, Chris Eggert, Aaron Boutin, and Christian Parker on a pass from Matt Cinelli.) In the closing moments of the game the Bulls were awarded a penalty shot which was completed by Joshua Fluhr to deny the Rams the shut-out, although they won the victory points. BOW: Dan Isaacs, Billy Morris and Joe Nicolaisen (Bulls) as well as David Wager, Mark Van Doren and Donald Keamy, Jr. (Rams).

Wolves 2 - Coyotes 1

The Coyotes tallied in the first quarter to take the lead (Brad Reghitto). In the third quarter, the Wolves evened it up when Billy Tobin assaulted the nets on passes from Bobby Antonucci and Mark Shwetz. Both teams worked hard for the winning goal and when Mark Angelos scored in the final quarter on a pass from Billy Tobin, he won the victory points for the Wolves. BOW: Scott Clementi and Chris Kew (Wolves) as well as Stephen Devaney (Coyotes).

Foxes 3 - Pythons 1

The Foxes dominated much of the play in the first and second quarters, during which they tallied three goals to take the lead (Adam Clark on a pass from Doug Rogers, Andy Shea on a pass from Billy Batchelder, and Michael Hein on passes from Randy Ying and Todd Dow). The Pythons rallied in the second half but were only able to get pass the Foxes' strong defensive line on one occasion (Kurt Brucato). BOW: Brent Raftery, Mark Books and Billy Hoffman (Foxes) as well as Kevin Murphy, Lance Gomes and Matthew Tanner (Pythons).

Cougars 2 - Bobcats 2

The Cougars played an aggressive first quarter during which they took the lead with two goals both booted in by Shaleen Cassily, one on a pass from Teri Babine. In the final quarter, the Bobcats rallied and tied it up with two goals, one scored in the final moments of play (Kerry Ann Fitzpatrick on a pass from Heather Reghitto, and Jennifer Brodie on a pass from Emily Trespas). Both teams split the victory points. BOW: Emily Trespas, Heather Reghitto and Megan Buckley (Bobcats) as well as Claudia Augello, Andrea Duffy and Mary Ellen Green (Cougars).

Jaguars 2 - Cheetahs 0

Excellent goal tending by the Cheetahs goalies (Amy Buck, Hakika Keith and Samantha Ann Massaro) held the spirited Jaguars, who dominated throughout the game, to two successful shots on their nets, to win the victory points. The goals were booted in by Rosemary Torrisi (her first ever!) and Pauline Kohn. BOW: Cara Workman, Cathy Allard and Amy Brocklesby (Jaguars) as well as Elizabeth Symchych and the Cheetahs goalies.

Wildcats 4 - Tigers 2

Timbers 7 - Whitecaps 5

With less than a full complement of players, the Whitecaps were challenged throughout by the Timbers who were determined to tally a large number of goals, which they did, a total of seven. The Whitecaps rallied, however, and when the whistle blew, they had somewhat bridged the gap by scoring five goals. Scoring for the victors were Eric McDowell on passes from Mike Flynn and Matt Alden, Matt Alden on a pass from George Phillip, Chris Sapuppo (2) one on a pass from Matt Alden, Jeff Leonard, Craig Buscema, and Adam Smith. The Whitecaps goals were tallied by Mike Coco (3), Steve DuMosch and Greg Kinsky. BOW: Chris Harding and Michael Bryson (Timbers) as well as brothers John and Ken Duval (Whitecaps).

Hurricanes 2 - Cosmos 1

The Hurricanes took the lead in the second quarter when Henning Ohlenbusch scored on a penalty kick. They increased their lead when Stephen Napolitano tallied at the end of the third quarter on a pass from Wes Breazeale. The Cosmos put on the pressure in the final quarter and made numerous shots on the nets, however, excellent defensive play held them to one successful shot booted in by Paul VanDerWielen on passes from Jim Saalfrank and Matt McKinnon. The Hurricanes won the points and their first victory. BOW: Matt McKinnon and A. J. Boucher (Cosmos) as

Energy Show

Pupils in grades three, four, and five at Pike School saw a slide presentation entitled "Your Meter is Running," which was presented by the National Association of Realtors. This show, with its accompanying taped narration, presents the need for energy conservation and ways in which even young people can contribute toward reducing our energy use.

The slides were made available by the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors through the Victor Company, Inc. The board is now sponsoring a slogan contest. The presentation and contest are available to other interested groups. For information, contact Gina Riddiford at the Victor Company, who is chairman of the The

Cruisin' Down The River

AVIS held its annual canoe races the Shawsheen River Saturday with races for beginners and intermediates, plus an open race. There was a large turnout for the event with some exciting races. Photos clockwise from upper left: Taking first place in the intermediate race are Gene Smith and Paul Morris of Tewksbury. Paul, made his winning canoe; Dick Bon of Cross Street takes third place with his partner Graydon McCormick North Andover in the intermediate race; Struggling hard against the current at the halfway point are Trish Gagne and her dad Peter, of Storham; Graydon McCormick leads the way upstream; It isn't easy avoiding other entrants at the turnaround, these canoers find out. Jennifer Gagne, 58 Brookfield Road, paddles her way to a fourth place spot with her dad, Daniel, and David Reed, 82 Nor St., comes in first in the kayak division.

Blizzards 3 - Metros 2

The score was tied up at the end of the first quarter, 1-1. The Metros took the lead in the second quarter and again the Blizzards tied it up, 2-2. Both teams made many good attempts to boot in the winning goal, and when Kyle McCabe tallied his third goal of the game, on a pass from Stephen Redgate, in the third quarter, he won the victory for the Blizzards. Mike Corkery assisted on Kyle's first goal. Scoring for the Metros were Stephane Kirkland and Jim Sullivan. BOW: Glenn Harrison, Mike Winters and Mike O'Connor (Metros) as well as Larry Middleton, Steve Weiner and Chris Gully (Blizzards).

Roughnecks 2 - Aztecs 1

The Aztecs played a strong first quarter during which they took the lead when Mark Neaves scored on a pass from Geoff Bolan. The Roughnecks came right back in the second quarter and tied it up when David Penney tallied. Both teams made many attempts for the winning goal and the goalies made some outstanding saves, however, Tommy Ciolfi was able to get the ball into the Aztecs nets in the final quarter, on a fine pass from his brother Tony, and the Roughnecks were the victors. BOW: Goalies Matt Young and Eric Buchholz, and Sean Melia (Roughnecks) as well as Stephen Bertetti and Todd Goyette, fullbacks for the Aztecs.

Rogues 3 - Tornadoes 2

Saturday Programs Are Open

The Andover-North Andover YMCA is now accepting registrations for their Saturday Live Y'ers and Saturday Tiger Cub programs.

The Live Y'ers, which meets Saturday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., will offer a variety of activities to grammar school children in Grades 1-6. Children will be divided into smaller groups by age. In the gym, for younger children, we've developed a series of low organizational games and activities. Older children will have an introduction to sports skills, fitness activities, and gymnastics activities. Each Saturday also includes a recreational swim period where water games are organized. Also scheduled each week is a crafts period which might include string art, finger painting, paper crafts or various seasonal projects. Children will need to bring their own lunch, gym shorts, sneakers, towel and bathing suit.

The Tiger Cubs is a Saturday morning "fun time" for boys and girls ages four and five years old. The day-camp type program will offer arts and crafts, gym and recreational swimming, and will meet from 9 a.m. till 12 noon.

Both programs will begin Saturday, May 9, and end Saturday, June 20.

Palominos 2 - Broncos 1

The Palominos played a strong first half during which they tallied two goals to take the lead (Beth Crawford on a pass from Kerry Saunders, and Aimee Levi.) The Broncos tallied in the second half and made many good attempts to score, however, alert defense by the Palominos fullbacks and goalie held them to one successful shot, and the Palominos won the victory points. BOW: Melissa McCann and Tahisa Paul (Palominos).

Mustangs 1 - Colts 2

The Colts dominated the first two quarters of play and got on the scoreboard when Caroline Pool tallied on a penalty kick. The Mustangs tied it up in the third quarter when Vered Pomerantz completed a penalty kick. Ponies 2 - Trotters 0

The first two quarters were scoreless as the Ponies defensive line successfully denied the Trotters' strikers any clear shots on their nets. In the third and fourth quarters, the Ponies forward line attacked and were able to tally twice to win the victory points (Jackie Lynch on a pass from Kim Guild, and Penny Starks.) BOW: Karen Sopp and Amy Moody (Ponies).

Hamburger

Virtually all the questions ever asked about that perennial American favorite - the hamburger - are answered in a recently revised brochure issued by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture's Food Safety and Quality Service.

If you have ever wondered what kind of beef is ground beef made... why it's often red on the outside and grayish brown on the inside... just how rare you should eat it... you'll find the answers to these and many, many other questions that have been asked by consumers.

For a free copy of "Hamburger - Questions and Answers" write to: Information Div., U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, 26 Federal Plaza, room 1653, New York, NY 10278.

Andover Chiefs 1 - Georgetown

Georgetown controlled much of the play in the first half and tallied twice. Andover worked hard to tie it up in the second half but were only successful in getting in one shot scored by Billy Earnshaw off a corner kick by Chris Abell, and Georgetown were the victors. BOW: Ray Reed and Rich Napolitano.

Andover Stompers 8 -

Gloucester Dorymen 0

Playing a less experienced and smaller Gloucester line-up, the Stompers had no difficulty in controlling the play and tallying a total of eight goals before the final whistle. The goals were booted in by Paul Fuchs (2), Paul Hevehan (2), Cort Pomeroy, David Eckman, Jeff Poore and Mike Hardock.

Andover Rowdies 4 -

North Andover Dakotas 3

The Rowdies were ahead 3-1 at the end of the first half, having dominated much of the play (Greg Najjar on passes from David Cox and Greg Harris, and David Bartle (2), one on a pass from Greg Najjar.) In the second half, they increased their lead when Robbie Thompson kicked in the ball, and although North Andover did up their total by two, Andover had the extra goal and won the victory points.

BOW: Sean Duffy, Paul Gulla and Shannon McCabe.

The six-week class will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 7 p.m. at the YMCA building on Lawrence Street.

The program, designed for those people who suffer from back discomfort, has been shown to be 80 percent effective in providing relief. Specially designed exercises are used to increase flexibility, improve muscular strength and reduce tension.

Each participant will receive an exercise booklet, cassette tape, and book entitled "Backache, Stress and Tension" as part of the registration fee.

Spring Car Tips

Front end alignment is usually one of the first considerations for spring car maintenance, says the ALA Auto and Travel Club. To determine if your car needs to be realigned, have the ball joints, idler arm, pitman arm, tie rod ends, and tie rod end sleeves all checked for winter wear and damage.

private ways for industrial use. He indicated that he favored approving the subdivision, but only with the recommended restriction.

Rhys Kear, director of Community Development and Planning, explained that it has been the position of the planning board since the park was developed that the roads would remain private. "The town has no desire to maintain any more roads than it absolutely has to," he said.

However, he added that he has "some philosophical problems" with that position, which is held by the town manager, public works director and police chief. Because the road was constructed to the town's specifications, Kear questioned the "morality" of the proposed restriction.

The director pointed out that a future planning board could vote to lift the restriction — it would not actually have precluded Arkwright from ever appearing before town meeting. But Kasnet said the restriction might worry some bankers, and could therefore impede the sale of land in the park.

Shattuck Road ends in a half-moon shape — half a cul-de-sac — with GCA and Intertel on either side. Kasnet said the developer originally agreed to make the street a dead end, rather than a through way connecting with Chandler Road, to please neighbors who feared the road might create traffic and speeding problems.

essarily like them, she agrees, "but it's interesting to see what the new artists are doing."

"This is hot stuff in New York," she adds, with a wave at the exhibit.

She notes that there are many "very fine" artists in the area, and in Andover in particular.

Nicki also wears a public relations hat, sending out releases of exhibitions and sometimes serving as museum guide.

"We don't give tours per se," she says, but they do encourage special groups to visit and, after giving a little introduction about the museum and exhibition, she's available to answer questions.

"It's a very comfortable gallery to walk around in," she goes on. One of the current goals of the director is to get a very large membership from the Merrimack Valley. The Addison has always had a membership scattered throughout the country, particularly alumni, Nicki says. "The collection has always been very well known among scholars throughout the country."

Nicki has always been involved with the students who come to the museum's facilities for various classes, and she's gotten to know many students over the years who have gone on to become full-fledged, well-known artists — Carl Andre and Frank Stella for instance. She has remained very good friends with many of them.

If P.A. seems to have had more than its share of alumni in the ranks of recognized artists, Nicki is quick to credit the art department.

"The teachers here are not only teachers but artists in their own right," she says. "I don't think you'll find an art department like this in any private secondary school in the country."

The students have to take one class in art, she explains, but they usually take more because there are "so many wonderful offerings."

The best part, she says, is that they are trained "to see in the best sense of the word," a practice that will provide them enrichment for the rest of their lives.

Nicki's prime interest outside the museum, except for going in to Boston to museums and shows, is completely the opposite: politics.

As a member of the Andover Republican Town Committee, she naturally worked for the Reagan-Bush ticket. But she had been out on the campaign trail long before, during Bush's own Primary run for the Presidency.

After all, she'd "known him a long time," she says modestly...ever since he went to Andover (P.A.) with Nicki's brother.

(Another member of the Thiras family incidentally, is also familiar on campus: her sister, Dickie, has been receptionist there for many years.)

Nicki sometimes wishes she had learned to do some artwork herself but, she says, she's always been able to enjoy other people's.

And, looking around the halls that will be teeming with anniversary celebrants on Saturday, she admits very comfortably, "This is just a wonderful way to work."

Family Service Group Meets

The Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence will hold its annual meeting Friday, May 15, at The Lanam Club in Andover. There will be a social hour beginning at noon with luncheon being served at 12:30 p.m.

Mike Noble will be introduced to this area. Noble is a professional musician and songwriter who will present a multi-to-piced program dealing with the issues relevant to today. His repertoire is one which includes such subjects as birth, death and the joys and frustration of family life today.

This meeting is open to the public anyone who is interested in attending, advised to contact the Family Service office at 430 North Canal St., Lawrence for further information.

of the applicants' proposals — not just the financial — before reaching their decision.

James Caldwell and John Sweeney of the town's cable advisory committee said they would continue to recommend Rollins.

Robert Stengel, director of government affairs for Continental, told the board the consultants' report "demonstrates that the Rollins proposal does not measure up to Continental's. The conclusions are inescapable."

He charged that Rollins had "understated its capital costs by at least 25 to 30 percent" and "projected revenues far in excess" of what it could actually expect to receive.

For those reasons, Andover cable subscribers "will not receive all the services Rollins promises, or they will cost considerably more than you have been led to believe," Stengel concluded. "Our reputation is sound. Andover will receive what we have promised."

Atty. Richard Asoian of Andover, representing Rollins, maintained that Malarkey, Taylor had based its study on "several basic misconceptions" about Rollins' finances that led to "erroneous conclusions."

Rollins Vice President of Systems Development Thomas Bird then offered a three-point rebuttal to the consultants' findings, concluding that Rollins continued to be "the most credible applicant," as the advisory committee had found.

When questioned by Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark, Bird said the company was willing to commit an additional $400,000 to $500,000 to the system, and would freeze its rates for the first two years of service, as proposed in its application.

Clark recommended that the selectmen award the license to Rollins, based on the advisory committee's conclusions. "Robert Jones indicated that he felt Andover's Advisory Committee did an excellent job in analysis of the two proposals from the consumer's standpoint," the manager wrote in a memo to the board. "Rollins definitely made a better proposal to the town in terms of quantity of services."

He added that both companies had presented "very speculative proposals," and there was no reason to believe that Rollins "will not perform."

The manager asked that the selectmen and Finance Committee provide funds for legal counsel and consultants to help the town negotiate its contract with Rollins. "It is incumbent upon us in negotiating the final contract to be very clear and specific," Clark said. "Malarkey, Taylor's report should tell us we are forewarned now we should be forearmed."

Selectmen Susan Poore, Donn Byrne and Chairman Norma Gammon voted in favor of Rollins; Edward Harris abstained, and Jerry Silverman was absent.

Monday night's hearing ended with smiles all around, and Continental representatives reached across the aisle to congratulate the Rollins people on their success. But the battle for Andover's cable franchise was by no means amicable. The selectmen's vote ended 18 months of intense struggle for the license.

The advisory committee, chaired by Andover Atty. Reginald Marden, whose Roll ins last October at the end of a year-long study because they found it offered a "superior" proposal.

light ceremony included Donna Pollack, Mark Easton, Douglas Dube, Michael Fleming and Joseph Kannam. After receiving their pins and certificates, the new members were led in the National Honor Society pledge by President Romito.

The highlight of the ceremony was an address by Philip F. Wormwood, principal of Andover High School, who shared his thoughts on the development of education over the past years. Principal Wormwood was then inducted into the Andover High School National Honor Society as an honorary member by President Romito, who also presented him with a plaque commemorating 30 years of devotion to the ideals of the society.

Heartsaver

Because 80 percent of those persons experiencing cardiac assistance and reaching the hospital within two hours of when their symptoms begin live to return to their homes, the Aid Association of Lawrence General Hospital is offering another in its popular series of Heartsaver programs on May 21 from 6 to 10 p.m. at the hospital.

Aimed at increasing the number of lay persons who are trained to deal with the range of basic cardiac life support response and care, the program will focus on action to increase the immediate change of the victim's survival. Included in the program is education on cardiac risk factors warning symptoms of heart attack and stroke, and techniques for learning CPR (cardiac pulmonary resuscitation).

Persons attending who master the CPR skill will receive a card which certifies them as a heartsaver.

The program will be held in the Lawrence General Hospital Kurth Auditorium. To register, call the education department at the hospital.

Drilling for oil soon may consume more energy than it produces, according to a study by scientists at Cornell University. The industry in 1930 extracted 250 barrels of oil for every foot drilled. By 1970, 10 to 15 barrels of oil were being found for each foot drilled, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

Real Estate
By DOUGLAS N. HOWE

REALTOR

FINANCING IMPORTANT TO SELLER

Financing the purchase of a home is not only a problem for the purchaser — it is also a problem for the seller — because in days of tight money, if the prospect can't get financing — there's no sale.

That's why it is so important for the seller to list his home for sale with a REALTOR. If anybody knows how to get mortgage money, he does. He solves that problem every day because he has the knowledge and contacts to help the buyer find the money he needs. He works closely with many financing institutions, knows their requirements and methods. He may know a private local lender who might be interested. In a period of tight money, especially, he knows best where to look and alternate methods of tying together a satisfactory financial package.

For example, he might suggest that the seller take back a mortgage. This is called a purchase-money mortgage that the seller extends to the buyer in order to make the sale possible if the buyer cannot raise sufficient cash. When money is really tight, it is sometimes the only way to complete a sale.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 PUNCHARD AVE., ANDOVER. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Cable TV

The committee reported that Rollins offered more studios and equipment for local use, a local office, a fully-equipped mobile van for Andover's use, more variety in programming packages, a cable for public programming throughout the town, more local programming, and lower subscriber charges than its competitor.

However, the selectmen's decision was delayed for months after the board voted to hire a consultant, at the applicants' expense. The two companies further delayed the process by taking weeks to agree on a consultant, finally choosing Malarkey, Taylor in mid-December.

The consultant, a specialist in cable television since 1964, delivered its final report to the selectmen and manager last Friday afternoon.

Rollins proposes to offer 52 channels serving the entire town, and to complete construction of the cable system within 10 months. The company will build one television studio at Merrimack College for community use, and a smaller one at Andover High School. The proposal calls for a 100-foot tower to be built on the Merrimack campus, requiring a zoning variance.

Plant Sale

The New England Unit of The Herb Society of America is sponsoring a gala festival and plant sale on Thursday, May 28, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Gore Place, Waltham.

This will be an opportunity for both beginner and experienced gardeners to select from a large collection of annual and perennial herb plants. Available will be the familiar and the not so-common culinary herbs; herbs grown for their fragrance and for ornamental delight, both in the garden and as dried material; scented geraniums; old fashioned species roses; useful and traditional plants for herbal teas; and rare and unusual dye plants.

on Wednesday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library. Presented by Pat Dye, Priscilla Seewald and Phebe Miner, all of whom have recently visited China, the program will include slides, impressions and opinions of China today. The entire community is cordially invited to attend and share their experiences. Refreshments and a reception will follow the program.

Take A Week-End Breakfast-Break.

After all, leisurely week-end breakfasts at home can be very complicated!

Are there two in your family who like their eggs the same way, who prefer bacon, ham or sausage, or orange, grapefruit or tomato juice, or toast or muffins or bagels, or how about bagels and lox and cream cheese, or pancakes, or homefries or ANYTHING the same?! Let us make your breakfast to order for all, and enjoy the change of breaking away for breakfast. Breakfast out-of-doors, if you wish, on our treed-in patio, at large umbrellad tables, or eat inside in our large 'never-a-wait' dining room, at comfortable, oversized booths. Breakfast, lunch or supper, too, we've got it all.

We've even got the answer to your next party, office or social function you may be planning — our Towne Deli Party Platters.
